At the CMHF we have always valued the importance of recognizing our health heroes as a source of inspiration and pride. While it is regrettable that we could not gather in person to celebrate the outstanding achievement of our newest Laureates, this in no way detracts from their impact.

We are deeply appreciative of the support we received from our friends at UBC and the Vancouver health community. Committee Chair Dermott Kelleher led a team of dedicated local community leaders and staff to plan a wonderful event - and we are grateful for their continued support as we navigated our way to this virtual event together.

The power of partnerships and collaboration has never been more evident. Thank you to the Canada Medical Association – our national partner and presenting sponsor of the Induction Ceremony – for your unwavering support and flexibility.

Thank you also to MD Financial Management for your continued investment in our goal to Inspire Generations as our student sponsor.

Our heartfelt thanks to all of our sponsors for maintaining your commitment to our mission of recognizing and celebrating Canadian heroes whose work has advanced health in our country and around the world. You made it possible for everyone to enjoy these moving tributes virtually.

We hope the light continues to shine on the important role everyone in the health field plays in our lives – from scientist to front line worker – and that this appreciation continues long after the pandemic. Enjoy the show.
